

Culminating Performance for a Social Dance Unit

With your group of two to four couples, you will create a dance video consisting of three parts: history of the dance, a tutorial teaching the basic step pattern, and another tutorial teaching at least three other steps or variations commonly found in the dance. You may select the dance for the project from the list provided. Since we have not learned these dances in class, you will need to research the dance and its steps; you can view examples of people performing these dances on YouTube videos. The third part of your video will include a one-minute segment showing you doing the dance and the variations taught in the tutorial with your partner (Note: each couple will select their own sequence of steps and do this dance segment). The final part of your video will feature a dance with your entire group lasting at least 45 to 60 seconds. During your tutorial, you must explain the steps and give the counts while teaching them. Your group dance will include changing partners, change of direction, change of levels, change of focus, and a starting and finishing pose.
