

CHECKLIST 11.1 The Eight-Step Approach

When developing your teaching and behavior management portfolio, check off each step as you complete it.

- _____ I have examined my values and beliefs and have developed my philosophy of teaching, coaching, or leading recreation groups.
- _____ I have examined my strengths and weaknesses as a teacher, coach, or recreation specialist and have developed strategies to work on my weaknesses.
- _____ Based on my philosophy, I have established teaching goals for my setting and have written measurable behavioral objectives for each method I outlined to reach my teaching goals.
- _____ I have examined my values and beliefs and have developed my philosophy of behavior management.
- _____ I have examined my strengths and weaknesses as a behavior manager and have developed strategies to work on my weaknesses.
- _____ Based on my philosophy, I have established behavior management goals for my teaching, coaching, or recreation position. I have written measurable behavioral objectives for each method I outlined to reach my behavior management goals.
- _____ I have implemented the measurable behavioral objectives and collected data to determine whether they were achieved or not. I have revised or replaced the methods that were not effective.
- _____ I have been reflective and have implemented the changes that I determined needed to be made.
