

Reproductive System in People With Ovaries Note-Taking Guide

Internal Reproductive Anatomy in People With Ovaries

1. Fill in the blanks in the diagram that follows that shows how an ovum moves from an ovary to the endometrium each month.

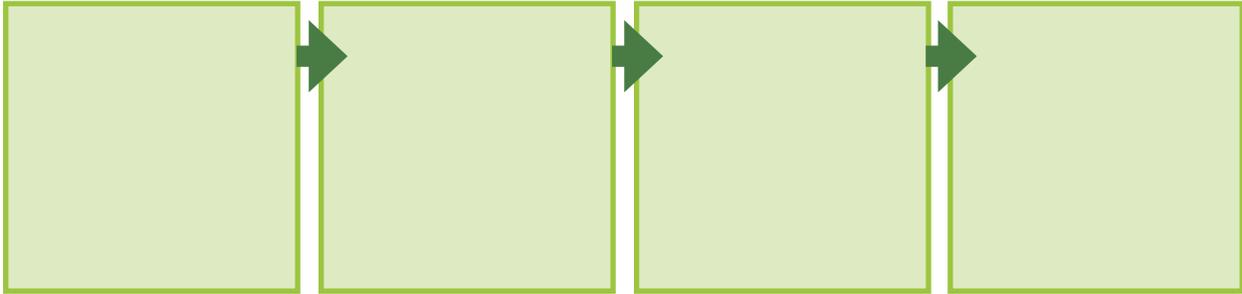

2. The opening between the uterus and the vagina is the _____.

External Reproductive Anatomy in People With Ovaries

3. The external anatomy is called the _____.

Reproductive System in People With Ovaries

4. The vulva consists of the:

Purpose of the Reproductive System in People With Ovaries

5. The purpose of the reproductive system is to

6. Why are breasts considered a part of the reproductive system?

Reproductive System in People With Ovaries

Diseases and Disorders of the Reproductive System in People With Ovaries

7. Complete the boxes in the following chart:

Cervical _____	Often caused by _____, a sexually transmitted disease.
_____ fibroids	_____ made up of muscle cells and other tissues growing within and outside the _____.
Breast cancer	Can form in both people with _____ and people with _____. Common symptom is a _____ in the breast.
Endometriosis	Tissue that lines the _____ grows outside the uterus and usually involves the _____, fallopian _____, and lining of the pelvis.
PMS	Combination of symptoms that can affect people with ovaries _____, emotionally, and _____.
Endometrial or _____ cancer	Often diagnosed at an early stage due to abnormal _____ bleeding.

Reproductive System in People With Ovaries

Caring for the Reproductive System in People With Ovaries

8. People with ovaries who are sexually active should have a regular checkup with a _____, a doctor who specializes in the reproductive care of people with ovaries.

Breast Self-Examination

9. Complete the breast self-examination steps in the following chart:

In the shower check for _____, knots, or any breast changes.	In front of a mirror check breasts with arms at _____, raised _____, and with _____ on hips.	Lying down move the pads of the fingers around the _____ and _____, checking for lumps. Squeeze the _____ to check for discharge and lumps.
--------------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Menstrual Cycle

10. The menstrual cycle is a hormonal process the body goes through each month to prepare for a possible _____.

Reproductive System in People With Ovaries

11. Explain the four stages of the menstrual cycle.

Stage 1:	Stage 2:	Stage 3:	Stage 4: